

completing the look

Five or six interchangeable navy and black suits, one with a pinstripe (plus a few light-khaki linen ones thrown in for summer), are neat, easy looks for you. Because ease of movement is essential, wearing pants with your jackets and a simple blouse or a fine-weave cashmere sweater work best. Jewelry is minimal — a pair of pearls or diamond studs, a school ring, and a necklace from your sweet sixteen work. Best if your hair is kept back during the workday and out of fussing range. Lip gloss is all you need — your complexion is usually very good and always has a natural bit of rosy glow.

work it, girl

A law firm, accounting firm, or investment bank are good choices, that is, if you are not president of your own media company or a CEO already. You worked your tail off in school, Ivy League, summa cum laude, and were involved in multiple extracurricular clubs, including fundraising and tutoring for underprivileged children.

finding a sole mate

You need the same great qualities that make you a standout: constant, resilient, good-natured, and fun. Fortunately, you assume this is what everyone is like and because you never lower your standards, you've always got an adoring mate and loads of friends.

classic conservative pump

You may be diligently scanning the Financial Times and Wall Street Journal on your way to work at an investment bank, an accounting firm, or a law firm. You most likely have a cup of coffee in one hand, the paper in another, and an overstuffed laptop bag. Appearing a bit discom-bobulated, you are actually simultaneously reading the paper, scanning your text messages, drinking your coffee, and jotting a note for your morning meeting in your PDA.

You are a most loyal friend, unflagging in your ability to show up for any event, any time of day, always available for a quick joke and a laugh. Extraordinarily good-natured and extremely resilient, you've got a man's fraternité and affability, making you a most valued friend since you are always so easygoing. Smart as a whip, you can rattle off stock indexes as easily as the latest baseball scores without missing a beat. You can work until 4 A.M., be in the office at 8 A.M., and still make it to your best friend's birthday party that evening with a smile on your face and the perfect present in your hands.

Your values are basic: work hard, get paid well, use your brain, value your family and friends, and give back. You are not overly cheery in bad situations, but rather rock solid and consistently pleasant.

invoking your inner stiletto

Don a few pieces of pink lacy French lingerie before you don your suit and pair it with a pink button-down instead of your usual white. With just one too many buttons undone, you are very subtly but deliberately invoking a bit of your Inner Stiletto.
